

War Rationing

The first war rationing book was issued from a federal office on Main Street. In April 1942, registration was held for three days in the elementary schools. Books designated the amount of gasoline, pork, coffee, tea, sugar, and clothing for each individual or family.

Ledger and Times, April 23, 1942