

For Sgt. Pogue:

[1413]
Dear Sarge:

Glad to have your note. I wanted the summary of 1942 training difficulties (and achievements) to add to the portion of the narrative dealing with training in 1942. I did not contemplate an elaborate writeup.

Things are knocking along. Some days are good, and others are not so hot. We have a swell outfit here, at Lt. Govan probably has told you. Major Greenfield bears acquaintance well; so does Bob Palmer.

I must admit that my afternoon volley ball session is the high point of my day's activities. I hope that this is not too unfavorable a commentary on my working philosophy.

I leave home daily before dawn and return after dark - since the Major does not take an afternoon off I don't either. In this way one day runs into another without much ado. But on weekends we usually get together with acquaintances. Mary Frances and I are both very much attracted to the Capitol City.

Cordially,

Bell I. Wiley
